

Local News

Home / News / Local News / Community Living earns provincial award

Community Living earns provincial award

Posted 27 minutes ago

Community Living Chatham-Kent has received provincial recognition for a variety show it created that delivers an anti-bullying message.

The local agency recently received the James Montgomerie Community Award during Community Living Ontario's annual general conference in Niagara Falls for its RESPECT Tour 2010.

The variety show, which includes song, dance, puppets and animation, visited local schools to deliver the message "bullying is the issue, respect is the solution." The cast is primarily made up of individuals who have an intellectual disability.

The RESPECT Tour received the honour because of its impact on the community to address the important issue of bullying while promoting a positive perception of the abilities of individuals who have an intellectual disability.

Do You Have A Disability?

Canadian Disability Credit $35K Find Out If You Are Eligible Free
www.TheNBA.ca/Disability-Benefits

Dementia T

Could it be A Our Test to F
www.QnMemo

